Gladys Kinzer, the 12-year-old daughter of John kinzer, a carpenter, was snot and killed yesterday morning with a cat rifle, which her 6-year-old brother. Johnnie, playfully pointed at her while the two were at play on the second floor of their home. No. 2819 North Broadway.

Lottle Lindsey, the little daughter of Melvin S. Lindsey, of No. 2814 North Broadway, who was visiting the Kinzer children, was the only witness to the shooting. She says that the little boy came into the room with the rifle, and that the sister, fearing that he might hurt himself, undertook to take it away from him.

Eve minutes later she died in the arms of her mother. When Johnnie Kinzer realized that he had killed his little sister he was overcome with grief and begged his mamma to kill him. He ran to the kitchen and secured a large meat knife, with which he threatened to cut his throat. Finally the child fell into a fit of weeping and was dissuaded from doing himself harm.

Doctor Otto F. Claus of No. 2825 North Ninth street, and Doctor G. H. Wilson of No. 2816 North Tenth street, were summoned, but they were unable to prolong the little girl's life. The builet had pierced the breast in the region of the heart and death was instantaneous.

PLAYMATE SHOT DAY BEFORE.

Only a few days ago one of the Kinzer children's playmates was shot in the hand by the accidental discharge of a cat rifle and little Johnnie had been warned not to play with the weapon, which belonged to his father. UNIQUE BID FOR BUSINESS.

W. Vanderlip, Agrees to Furnish Maceration Experts Without Cost.

The Republic Bureau,
14th St. and Pennsylvania Ave.
Washington, June 22.—A circular letter which has just been sent out over the signa ture of F. W. Vanderlip, vice president of the City Bank of New York, has given rise Dumis School, Lucas avenue and Fourteenth street.

Nearly all the summer gardens have signified their willingness to entertain one of the schools at a time, and street car companies have promised transportation.

Mrs. E. A. DeWitte is chairman of the committee; Mrs. E. T. Clapp is vice president; Mrs. Ashley D. Scott, chairman of the Finance Committee. The necessary funds for the maintenance of the grounds and schools are being collected by nopular. tional banks to have a representative here to count the national bank notes sent to the Treasury for redemption and to witness the maceration of the notes.

It is a duty of considerable responsibility and involves the employment of service that is expert in its line. An arrangement has come into vogue by which the banks get this work done at practically a nominal expense each year, due mainly to the fact that one person represents a number of banks. The business is done by individuals and also largely by the national banks of the city.

banks. The business is done by individuals and also largely by the national banks of the city. National Bank now proposes in the circular referred to to perform this service for its correspondents or those banks that deposit money with it and make no charges. It is explained in the circular that owing to its connections with the Riggs National Bank of this city it will be able to perform the service through that bank. It is supposed that this offer to do for nothing a service that requires an expenditure of money is made with the expectation that the business with the present correspondents will be increased and new banks will be added to the list.

Vanderlip formetly served as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury under Secretary Gage. The vice president of the Riggs Bank, Mr. Alles, also served as Assistant Secretary until recently. The City National purchased a large interest in the Riggs Bank and Mr. Alles entered the latter to look after the interests of the former. In view of these facts, the bankers are commenting a good deal upon the Vanderlip bid for more business.

Washington, June 22.—The IT-foot bronze statue of Liberty surmounting the dome of the Capitol is not to be painted white, at least not at present. Senator Cockrell has ideas of his own, and it was a protest on his part that stopped the painting. When Congress adjourned preparation were made to give Liberty a coat of white lead to remove the weather stains. Scaffolding was built and workmen, who knew nothing of art, except as applied with a before F. S. Bright, special commissioner whitewash brush, began the job. most every day, and, noticing the scaffold, he asked:

"What are they doing up there?"
"Painting the statue," was the laconic answer of a policeman.
"Painting Liberty?" shouted the Senator,
"That beautiful bronze statue! What "White," answered the policeman, "Somebody said it looked dirty."

Senator Cockrell was angry. He walked out and, shading his eyes with his hand and looking up at the white blur, boiled with rage.

"Stop Hi" he cried; but the workmen so high up paid no heed to him. The Senator went in and saw the representative of the sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, and demanded that the work be stopped,

"It's a shame to roin that statue with white paint," he declared, "If it is not stopped immediately VII make someoby suffer for it when Congress meets again."

Orders were at once issued for the work to stop.

"Don't let these fellows whitewash the grass or paint the trees white while I'm gone, either." Senator Cockrell cantioned as he left the Capital.
